Represent 100 Years of Service

Harry Saunders (left), engineer of the special Canadian Pacific Railway train that recently took E.W. Beatty, president of the railway and several directors on a tour of the Maritime Provinces and Charles Henderson, conductor on the train, represent between them just over a hundred years' service with the company. Mr. Henderson has put in 53 years of service, making him the dean of C.P.R. engineers; Mr. Saunders has a record of 48 years' railway service.

Railway Agent Must Keep Order Book Open

The Alberta Wheat Pool has been calling the attention of its members to important changes in the Canada Grain Act, which were made at the last session of Parliament. It is mentioned that a new feature in marketing wheat this year is contained in the requirements of the regulations governing Car Order Book. This year all agents of railway companies are required to keep open a car order book. The only method of obtaining a car is for the grain producer to have his name placed in this book, either by himself or by his agent duly appointed in writing.

Under the old system it was not compulsory for an agent to open a car order book unless requested to do so. Furthermore, it was a common practice for one individual to act as agent for many growers of grain. Under the new regulations no one can act as agent for more than one person at a time. It is hoped by this method to overcome the weaknesses of the old proxy system.

Each signer is given a car in turn and the railway agent must notify the applicant when a car is available for him. The applicant is then given three hours within which to declare his intention and ability to load the car, and a further time allowance of 24 hours is given within which to load. If the applicant cannot load the car it goes to the next name on the list who ordered a car of that capacity.

Agents of elevator companies must sign for cars in the same manner as the grain producers and are treated the same except that they are allowed two cars as compared with one for the farmer. This is to allow elevator companies to ship their accumulations of street wheat.

It is not necessary for a grain producer to have his grain in the elevator when he signs the car order book, but it is wise for him to have all plans made in order to anticipate his turn, so that he can load his car within the required time.

LIFE'S TOOLS

When a carpenter goes out to build a house, he first examines his tools to see that they are in perfect condition. A good workman will not work with damaged tools, nor with an essential tool missing. The finished result would be imperfect. He would not have his name associated with such.

Are parents as careful as the good workman? So many small children are to begin next month to build the foundation for the future structure of their lives. Are their tools in perfect working order? Eyes and ears, heart and lungs—in fact, the whole structure that makes up the little body. Unless they are in perfect working condition, the child starts with a handicap that nothing in later life can overcome. The structure that he builds will be imperfect, and HE is not responsible—HIS PARENTS ARE!

No child should start school without a complete physical examination, without having defects, if any, remedied, without being in perfect working condition. That is his birthright. Further information may be had

Local Tennis Players In District Tourney

Messrs. Ellwood Evans, Cecil Studer, Howard Evans and Melvin Huget of the local tennis club, took part in the District Tennis Tournament at Olds on Sunday.

Owing to the inclement weather the games scheduled for Monday were postponed until next Sunday, September 8.

The result of the games played by the local boys are: Cecil Studer won by default from Dr. Mann, Olds but lost in the next round to Lloyd of Delburne in very close contested games. In the men's junior singles Melvin Huget lost to Ivan Sutherland, Olds, while Howard Evans lost to Hubie Goode, Olds. Melvin Huget and Howard Evans defeated Gish and Genge of Delburne in men's doubles. Ellwood Evans lost to Gaetz of Red Deer in the men's singles event.

Labor Day Sees Opening Of Hunting Season

Hunting began in Alberta on Labor Day, Monday last, Sept. 2. Once more nimrods will be enjoying this ancient sport, and game in the province, according to all reports, is plentiful.

Seasons open for mountain goat and sheep; for bear, ducks, geese, coots, rails and snipe.

There is one change in the shooting seasons this year, and that is the sharp-tailed grouse will once more fall to the huntsman's bag, though the season is confined to two weeks in that area north of the Red Deer river only, from October 1 to 15.

Seasons which opened September 2 are as follows:

Mountain sheep, mountain goat (one male only)—September 1 to October 31.

Bear, one male only—Sept. 1 to June 14.

Moose, caribou—November 1 to December 14.

Ducks, Geese, Coots, Snipe—Sept. 15 to December 14, south of the Clearwater and Athabasca rivers. Bag limit, ducks 30 day, 200 season; geese 15 day.

The season for grouse remains closed. Sharp-tailed grouse, only, may be hunted north of the Red Deer river from October 1 to 15.

Alberta Boy's Work Secretary Visits Here

Gordon Lapp, Field Secretary, with headquarters in Calgary, of the Alberta Boys' Work Board (Tux Boys and Trail Rangers), paid a farewell visit to Didsbury Thursday evening last, before leaving for Toronto next week to take up his new duties as the Ontario field secretary.

While in town Mr. Lapp was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Boorman. An informal gathering of local Tux-Boys assembled at their mentor's home in honor of Mr. Lapp's visit and a pleasant social evening was spent in camp reminiscences and Tux work, after which Mrs. Boorman served refreshments.

The guests included Gordon Lapp, Ormond Phillipson, Reid and Tom Clarke, Frank Moyle, C. Geiger, P. Booker, Alf Durrier and Elmer Evans and Ernie Fletcher.

Tom Haytherne, premier of the last session of the Boy's Parliament held at Calgary last December, will take over the work of Mr. Lapp.

When Co-operation Should Prevail

The 1929 crop season in Western Canada would seem to present a rare opportunity for a further development of that spirit of co-operation which has been such a notable and satisfactory feature of Western economic history during the last twenty-five years. Not only is there now opportunity for such further development, but the existing situation undoubtedly calls for the practice to the fullest extent of the principle of co-operation to which tens of thousands of our Western people have devoted their allegiance.

While it may yet be early to predict just what the outcome of this year's harvest operations in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will disclose, it is now well known that in quantity of grain production there will be an enormous decline as compared with 1928. The quality may be higher, and prices substantially better, and in the final result the amount of money paid to Western grain growers may not fall so greatly below last year's figures, as many have feared and as seemed altogether probable.

But the fact remains that the distribution of crop money will not be nearly so general as in the last few years. Some sections of the West, and the farmers resident therein, will receive more money for their labor than they did a year ago. But, on the other hand, other sections will receive very considerably less, and quite a number of farmers who were forced to plough down their drought stricken fields will receive nothing at all.

Another serious feature of this year's operations is that, whereas in other years of shortage in grain crops, the man engaged in mixed farming had his cattle and dairy products to fall back upon, this year he finds himself in an even more serious predicament than the all-grain farmer, because in the sections most seriously affected, the drought has been so prolonged, and the weather so hot, that the supply of feed is dangerously short.

As a result of the heavy decrease in volume of grain production it has been decided not to run the usual harvesters' excursions from Eastern Canada, not to mention from Great Britain, in the belief that the West itself can supply all the harvest hands required. The introduction of the Combine has operated to reduce the number of harvesters required, while the growing industrialism of the West provides a large number of men who can be drafted to the harvest fields in the fall months. Again, this year, from those sections of partial crop failure, farmers and their sons can be drafted to those sections where help is needed. Also, because of the drop in volume of grain to be moved, the railways will not require as many men as in former years.

Here is where the opportunity for real co-operation presents itself. Farmers requiring harvest help should give first preference to other farmers and their sons who have suffered crop loss. Farmers requiring help, and farmers anxious to secure work, should both lose no time in making their wants known to the nearest Government Employment Office, which will be the agency to bring the two together and thus render valuable service to both.

In like manner farmers having a surplus of feed, and those others who are in dire need of feed, should both make their situation known to their Provincial Departments of Agriculture. It will be to their mutual advantage.

In the third place, many farmers will not even get their seed back this year, and will require to purchase next spring's requirements; on the other hand, many farmers will have an excellent sample of wheat for sale. Here too, both should make report to their Department of Agriculture. Seed grain can, by such an arrangement, be moved from one district to another at a minimum of expense.

In every community the spirit of true co-operation should prevail. The man who is fortunate this year should find real satisfaction in extending a helping hand to his less fortunate fellow-farmer. No one can tell, but the situation may be exactly reversed in another year. This kind of co-operation may not be quite so spectacular as the big Wheat Pools, but it is equally important, and it is the spirit which will make the Pools strong and permanent and a greater success than has yet been attained. It is the spirit of the West. Cultivate it, encourage it, develop it all along the line.

Foxes of all sorts, mink, fisher, marten, and badger will be among the first to receive attention.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

Cannot Be Rubbed Out — The Trouble Must Be Treated Through the Blood

The pain of rheumatism is something that you cannot rub out. Every sufferer from rheumatism has been advised to rub this or that liniment or oil on the affected part, but after all the rubbing the pain remained. Thin blood and rheumatism come together and if they are properly treated will go together. Anaemia means thin blood, and thin blood is something that can be corrected, so why not build up the blood until the rheumatic poisons are driven out?

This is exactly what is done in the treatment of rheumatism with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Rheumatism in any form shows improvement as the thin blood is built up, and when the poisons in the blood are overcome and driven out rheumatism disappears and does not return so long as the blood is kept rich and red. The great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the treatment of rheumatism is proved by the case of Mr. Thomas Martin, of Novar, Ont., who says:—"For some years I was so badly troubled with rheumatism that I could hardly walk and suffered great pain. I had medical treatment but did not get much relief. Then I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking the pills for some time the trouble disappeared and has not since shown the least sign of returning."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Should Be Useful

If beef production is to remain a major branch of agriculture in Canada, it must be stimulated and the artificial obstacles to its progress removed. The new Canadian Council of Beef Producers provides a medium through which much self work may be done, and with 1,000,000 head to market each year, producers should be glad that some organization is prepared to fight their battles.—Farmers Advocate.

Relief From Asthma. Who can describe the complete relief from suffering which follows the use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy? Who can express the feeling of joy that comes when its soft and gentle influence relieves the tightened, choking air tubes? It has made asthmatic affliction a thing of the past for thousands. It never fails. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

Co-Operative Poultry Marketing

Manitoba Association Now Has a Membership Of Over 12,000 Farmers

When the Manitoba Co-Operative Marketing Association, Limited, began operation in 1922, the first year's shipments totalled five cars of dressed poultry, 10 cars of live poultry, and 135 cars of eggs to markets in Eastern Canada and the United States. The organization now has a membership of over 12,000 farmers and their wives throughout the Province of Manitoba.

Art Is Universal

Sir Harry Lauder Favorite With People Of All Nations

Sir Harry Lauder, associated with what is declared to be the greatest company of international artists ever offered in conjunction with the famous singing comedian, comes to the Grand Theatre, Regina, Sept. 5 and 6, with matinees on Sept. 6th.

Sir Harry's art is so universal that in the Far East as well as in other sections of the world comprehended in his travels, he attracts thousands of auditors who do not understand the b-r-r-ing Scottish dialect, and yet seem to enjoy the diversified Lauder programme to the limit. In Western United States and Canada, Indians often form a considerable element in his audiences.

As Lauder is unlike any other entertainer, it is impossible to accompany him with any of the other famous amusement stars. His songs are his own, and his method of presenting them is peculiarly Lauder-esque.

This season Lauder comes with a repertoire of new songs, which he will offer in addition to the best and most popular of his old favorites, and with special scenic settings to fit each characterization. Some of the newer songs to be given have been popular hits. They include "I'm Lookin' For a Lass Tae Love Me," "Th' Boss O' the Hoose," "Susie MacLean," and others equally characteristic.

Are Easily Satisfied

Natives Of Rennell Island Accept Fish Hooks For Day's Work

An island on which an able-bodied young man is satisfied with five fish hooks for a day's work and a large axe for a fortnight's work, is described in a Colonial Report just issued. This spot is Rennell Island, one of the least known of the Pacific Islands, which was recently the subject of a geological survey. The inhabitants of the island are estimated to number at least 700 and are still untouched by white influence. They are described as "absolutely poor" and practically vegetarians.

Fraser River Salmon

Salmon Pack Is Showing Better Promise Than Any Year Since 1917

This year the Fraser River is showing splendid promise of coming back as a highly valuable sockeye stream, the pack showing more promise to date this year than any year since 1917, according to the Financial News of Western Canada, which goes on to say, "Steadily the stream has been replenished after the disastrous blocking of Hell's Gate about 15 years ago. Not only are the fish running in quantities larger than for 12 years but they are running earlier."

Community Beautiful Association Offers Prizes For Best Efforts To Improve Farm Cottages

As part of a Dominion wide plan to farm owners and others, the benefits accruing from the brightening up and modernizing of the farm home and surroundings, a novel demonstration is being arranged by the Canadian Home and Community Beautiful Association, according to Lee B. Judson, managing director of the Association, Montreal.

The magical transformation of a bare farm cottage and its immediate surroundings into a thing of beauty, in a demonstration lasting only two hours, is the novel event planned to take place before the end of this month, and to which the Rt. Hon. J. T. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment in the British Cabinet, has been invited by the Association.

The scene will be eight miles from London, Ontario, at the location of one of a hundred and fifty cottages built throughout Canada by the Department of Colonization and Development of the Canadian Pacific Railway, under an agreement with the Overseas Settlement Committee of the British Government. The London Chamber of Commerce is collaborating with the Canadian Home and Community Beautiful Association in the latter's arrangements to dramatize, as Mr. Judson calls it, the "Canadian Clean Up, Fix Up, and Keep It Up" idea on the farm.

As part of the demonstration the Rt. Hon. Mr. Thomas will be asked to apply part of the first coat of paint to the cottage exterior from automatic spraying equipment. Simultaneously a crew of paper hangers will be busy on the inside. Shrubs will be planted near the entrance to the cottage. Window boxes of a type, which a farmer can easily make, will be adjusted, and the whole effect will be to work a remarkable transformation before the eyes of the official committee and spectators, in two hours or less.

"Demonstrations such as the one arranged for," said Mr. Judson, in an interview, "are not entirely new, but this one is unique in that the sponsors will comprise newspaper, provincial, agriculture, trade, civic, chambers of commerce, British Government and Canadian Pacific Colonization officials."

The cottages built under arrangement between the Canadian Pacific and the Overseas Settlement Committee, are pre-eminent in the opportunity afforded in the important mission of illustrating the idea of the brightening up of the farm and the consequent enhancement of the farm morale. With this as a nucleus the Canadian Home and Community Beautiful Association hopes to influence more owners of farms throughout the Dominion to make their buildings more presentable. Through more colorful surroundings and better housing methods, living conditions on the farm will not only be made more attractive to Britons who come to the Dominion to take up farming, but the principles advocated by the Association will help the farm owner to cut down that enormous depreciation which follows when buildings are permitted to deteriorate.

There are thousands of home owners, not only on farms, but in towns and cities of Canada, who would find the greatest benefits in the modernizing of their buildings, whether it be through merely freshening up of an old place with paint or by means of alterations. Many people think that such improvements are not for them, that modernizing is too complicated or costs a great deal. And so it is the purpose of the Canadian Home and Community Beautiful Association, working with the Chambers of Commerce and Improvement Associations over all the Dominion to demonstrate how the advantageous results can be obtained, and then advise the farm owner regarding the availability of necessary material and equipment to do the work, costs and other details. This in a way may be looked upon as simply augmenting the fine work which governmental and other agencies have done, but we are in a position to co-ordinate many factors with the one end in view.

"It was not so long ago," concluded Mr. Judson, "that you could only interest the average farmer by talking very frankly and emphatically about increasing the life of his buildings and equipment by modern "Save the Surface" methods. All references to beautifying alarmed him because it suggested extravagance. This is no longer true because through such educational movements as our own, it is realized that the brightening up and proper maintenance of the farm home and buildings increases the property value, and today with so many visitors from other countries travelling through the Dominion, the effect of more attention bestowed on farm buildings creates a very desirable impression."

It is understood that the Canadian Home and Community Beautiful Association will offer several prizes in the near future for the best efforts at improvement made by the occupants of farm cottages in various parts of the Dominion.

Strawberries For England

Trial Shipment Of Treated Fruit Sent From Victoria

A trial shipment to England of five barrels of strawberries, which had been given the sulphur dioxide treatment, has been made by growers at Gordon Head, Vancouver Island. At first local customs officials objected to giving clearance to the berries on the ground that the use of chemicals would bar their entry as foodstuffs. It was, however, explained that this treatment was largely used in the Old Country as a temporary way of preserving berries until they were jammed, the chemical being drawn off and the berries restored to their natural appearance in the jamming process. Clearance was accordingly given after the matter had been referred to Ottawa and shipment was made from Victoria. Each barrel containing approximately 300 lbs. of berries.

Drought In Argentine

Much Anxiety Felt—By Grain and Cattle Trades

Canadian farmers are not the only ones who are experiencing anxious times in connection with the prolonged spell of dry weather. According to reports received by the Department of Trade and Commerce, Canada's chief competitor in the world wheat markets, Argentina, has also been experiencing a prolonged drought, and much anxiety is felt by the grain and cattle trades. Not only is pasture in that country threatened, but the work of ploughing and sowing for next year's major crop is held back by the hard state of the soil. In addition, wheat prices are below normally remunerative prices to the farmers.

A Rockerless Rocking-Chair

A rockerless rocking chair has been invented by a Chicago man. It cannot "crawl" on highly waxed floors, nor tip over, nor wear out carpets, nor rock on a dog's tail when the family pup chooses to lie close to his master, the inventor claims. The chair base stands squarely on the floor, and the seat is attached to the base by a heavy, solid steel convolute spring on each side to give a smooth, easy rocking motion.

There was a record number of entries this year.

Sheep For Manitoba Farms

Movement Is Started To Build Up Numerous Flocks In The Province

A movement to place sheep on Manitoba farms is now under way to a good start under distinguished patronage. The Manitoba Livestock Credit Company Limited, (which is not a commercial concern in the ordinary sense), purposes to distribute 7,000 Rambouillet ewes and 3,000 cross-breds this season, as a start, towards the building up of numerous flocks in the province. Sheep will be sold only to farmers whose applications are approved by a committee formed for that purpose.

Believes Purchasing Power Of Western Canada Farmers Will Be Unimpaired By Light Crop

The Bacon Hog and Grading

Standardization Of Hogs Necessary Step To Development Of Bacon Hog Business

The more the producer of bacon hogs knows about hogs, and the requirements of the market to which he is shipping, the greater will be the satisfaction and the profits derived from the business.

The standardization of hogs was a necessary and logical step in the further development of the bacon business, but hogs cannot be bred and grown to a standard type unless the producer has a thorough knowledge of the requirements of the standard.

For this reason a handbook on the "Bacon Hog and Hog Grading" was published by the Federal Department of Agriculture, and quite recently a revised edition of this pamphlet has been printed.

The reasons for producing a bacon hog are outlined in this pamphlet, also a description of the bacon hog, the breeds of hogs with illustrations, the official hog grades and grading regulations, and the necessity for grading. In fact, all the information needed by the producer in order to enable him to fill market requirements no matter how discriminating they may be.

All breeders of hogs should secure this pamphlet from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and if there is any further information desired the hog grader at the stock yards, the live stock promoters, or the Dominion Live Stock Branch, Ottawa, will be glad to answer enquiries.

Enlarged Grain Elevator

Building At Vulcan Brings Capacity Up To 90,000 Bushels

The town of Vulcan, in southern Alberta, which has won a name for itself by extensive shipments of grain, is having one of its nine elevators enlarged. The new building will increase the capacity by some 30,000 bushels, making the total 90,000 bushels. The grain handling facilities will be improved to increase speed and capacity, and electric equipment will be installed to furnish power.

The male has one advantage. When the heat becomes unbearable, he has something to take off.

No More Open End

This is the east end of the Trans-Canada going west. The Canadian Pacific has abolished the open end and substituted a vita-glazed solarium. In addition, the new cars, which are given over to the public in entirety, contain two shower-baths, a ladies lounge, a smoking-room and an observation-lounge. There is a buffet too. The bathrooms are in green tile, the upholstery in tapestries and soft coloured leathers.

That the purchasing power of the farmers of Western Canada will be at least as great after the present crop is harvested as it has been during the past year, is the considered opinion of C. W. Peterson, of Calgary. Mr. Peterson is well known in Eastern Canada as an expert authority of Western Canadian conditions and his analysis of the situation as given below is of importance to the business interests of the country.

Mr. Peterson says:

"Estimating yields in seasons such as this, when the contrast between good and poor farming is so enormous, is mere guess-work. In Southern Alberta, excellent winter wheat yields and the effect of irrigation development are important factors. It is, however, absolutely safe to assume that results will easily exceed the lowest average yield for the past 25 years of 11 bushels per acre, which would total 265,000,000.

A comparison of probable yield with last year is instructive.

"The 1928 prairie wheat crop averaged 21.4 bushels per acre. The average price realized did not exceed 98 cents per bushel at Fort William, netting 85 cents. With eleven bushels average in 1929 of No. 2 Northern, it will at present prices net the farmer $1.56. His average acre receipts for 1928, were $18.27, from which deduct cost of the harvesting and hauling of the excess 10½ bushels over 1929 yield, at least 16 cents per bushel, or $1.68, making net price realized per acre $16.59, as compared with $16.45 for the smaller crop of 1929 of higher quality, higher price and smaller handling cost. From a standpoint of farmer purchasing power, it seems about as broad as it is long, at the very lowest estimate."

The Mystery Of Sleep

One of Puzzling Questions Science Is Unable To Solve

Human beings are said by a physician to be divided into two classes, those who say they sleep like logs, and those who never get a wink, and seem rather proud to tell you about it. Actually both are wrong. Those who complain that they spend night after night just lying awake prove they are romancing by the mere fact that they are alive to tell the tale. While we sleep the wear and tear in our bodies is made good; without it we die. According to a scientist who expressed his theories recently, the soundest sleeper wakes up between thirty and forty times a night, without remembering it—so that no one "sleeps like a log." As a rule, women sleep more peacefully than men. This question of slumber is one of the most baffling which science has to solve. No one has yet discovered why we fall asleep. Some change must occur in our body, just as a motor-engine will only stop when you switch off or something goes wrong.

Made To Last

When the Romans made shoes they made them to last. In the course of excavating the foundation for the new Bank of England, several soles of Roman shoes were unearthed, one of which distinctly bore the seal of a Roman eagle. Three thicknesses of leather were held together by copper rivets. They were in fair state of preservation, even though they are estimated to be more than 2,200 years old.

In Japan automobiles have to be illuminated inside as well as outside at sunset.

DISPLAY TOWN NAMES

Alberta towns on main or secondary highways might well adopt a plan of having the name of the community displayed on board or electric signs. While some have such signs, they are scant in number and should be augmented by others in all parts of the province.

During the trip to Lethbridge a few days ago, motorists found that such names of towns were singularly lacking. Some who arrived late at night had to drive round and make inquiries as to the name of the place, in order to make certain that the right road was being followed.

Councils might well arrange for signs to be erected on the main roads on each side of the town, giving the community some useful publicity and at the same time providing a service that would be useful to motorists.

CHAIN STORE GROWTH

The growth of the chain store is general throughout all Canada. The Canadian business research bureau has estimated that during the year 1929 there will be 1,000 new chain store units established in the dominion.

Seven hundred were set up last year and January 1, 1929, there were 3,700 in operation. According to this report there were on that date 1,670 stores included in the grocery chains: 297 selling drugs, 237 meat stores; 233 low-priced variety stores; 217 selling tobacco; 159 candy; 109 cafes, restaurants and hotels; 108 bake shops; 106 shoe stores, and fifteen or twenty lines operating from ten to ninety units each. This report did not include gasoline service stations of which there are hundreds under chain management. This form of merchandising also has entered many other fields, including furs, radios, musical instruments, hardware, tires, soft drinks, clothing, and furniture. There are also 77 department stores under chain management.

One often wonders where it is to end. Will the independent retailer finally be extinguished? A writer in the monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada thinks not. The chief difficulty confronting the chain system is that of adequate personnel. The neighborhood retailer will always, it is believed, have a greater interest in his customers and a closer personal contact with them. Many retailers have taken a leaf from the chain store and have established co-operative buying. The net result is that the consumer probably will benefit by this system of merchandising, through the competition created and the lessons in efficiency taught the independent retailer by the successful chain system. The economist of the bank, already quoted, feels there is probably a place in our economic system for both forms of retail business.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYINGMAIL ORDER HOUSES ACTIVE

One thousand and nineteen families, all residing within a radius of twenty miles of Hanna, were circularized this week by one of Canada's leading mail order houses. A total of 1,019 catalogues, each weighing 2½ pounds, and costing seven cents each to mail, were placed in the homes of this district, right within the trading area of which Hanna is the centre. In addition to this number, several hundred additional catalogues will be distributed within Hanna's trading area through post offices situated just beyond the twenty-mile limit. That is to say that his one mail-order house is placing a "printed salesman" in probably 1,500 homes which consider Hanna as their trading centre. This little piece of mail-order penetration, for this district alone; this one advertising effort, by only one mail order house, will cost in the neighborhood of $900. There are two mail order concerns of approximately equal importance, which cover the West. Approximately the same number of printed salesmen will come in from the second firm, thereby doubling the above figure. Two "general catalogues" are issued each year, which brings the value of general mail order catalogues distributed here annually by these two firms alone, to the neighborhood of $3,600. This figure must be materially increased when one considers the fact that there are dozens of smaller concerns, each mailing their catalogues, "spring and summer," "fall and winter" and "sale." The amount thus spent is stupendous. But these firms would not continue to spend money in this way unless they were profiting by the practice.

Hanna is but one of hundreds of communities in Alberta where the influx of mail order catalogues was experienced this week. The campaign of the mail order houses to secure fall business is on in earnest, and no community is overlooked. No retailer is beyond competition of these concerns, and the sooner such retailer recognizes that fact and stirs himself to meet that competition, the more business he will retain at home.

The mail order house today is faced with the most serious situation in its history. The motor car has brought the rural dweller closer to the show window of his home town merchant. It is now much easier for the consumer to go to the biggest trading centre in his territory and see what he is about to purchase. The mail order house is forced to make greater expenditures than ever, on his catalogues and printed circulars, and this increased cost makes it just that much harder to compete with local merchants.

But to compete, today, with mail order houses; to even remain in business, the local merchants throughout the West must realize that their best weapon against mail order competition is the very instrument used by the outside houses to secure business—advertising. Liberal illustration of the goods for sale, with liberal display of price figures in newspaper and direct mail advertising, circulated through the local community, will prove the best method of increasing the confidence of our neighbors and securing their business.

Along with Hanna, there are about ninety towns in Alberta having local newspapers. If the business men of these towns were to use printing to develop and hold trade, as judiciously as do the mail order houses of Winnipeg, Regina, Vancouver and all, the home trading area would see fewer catalogues, because the local consumer would soon learn that the majority of his wants could be filled quite as well within his home town.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Upwards of four millions of dollars will be expended this season in effecting alterations, improvements, and extensions to the Palliser Hotel at Calgary, Alberta, and the Empress Hotel at Victoria, British Columbia. E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway has just announced. Four additional floors will be added to the former and an entirely new wing will be extended from the latter, bringing these two famous hosteleries even more up to date.

A Negro preacher walked into the office of a Southern newspaper and said: "Mister Editor, they is forty-three of my congregation which subscribe to yo' paper. Do that entitle me to have a church notice in yo' Salday issue?" "Sit down and write," said the editor. "I thank you." And this is the notice the minister wrote: "Mount Memorial Baptist Church, the Rev. John Walker, pastor. Preaching morning and evening. In the promulgation of the gospel three books are necessary: The Bible, the hymn book, and the pocketbook. Come to-morrow and bring all three."

Twenty head of holstein cattle from Alberta pure bred herds have arrived at Vancouver over Canadian Pacific Railway lines for shipment to Japan. These cattle were collected for a Japanese buyer by deputy minister of agriculture Craig. Quite a few such shipments have passed through this port recently. The purchase of the stock for Japan was made through the Alberta government and the cattle were selected from various herds in the province. Several of the animals or their immediate ancestors have records of 20,000 pounds of milk per year and all of them are from high producing dams.

A monster black bear weighing over 400 pounds that stalked upright through the woods seeking what or whom it might devour and which had no forepaws, has just been trapped in New Brunswick, according to Dave Ogilvy, well-known guide and outfitter. The beast used to rifle all the garbage dumps and refuse heaps in the neighbourhood of Plaster Rock, on the line of the C. P. R., and was caught by means of a trap hidden under dead leaves and some old paint tins. Examination of the body showed that its forefeet were crippled, either by deformity at birth or by an accident, and that it must have walked about on its hind feet. Only tracks of the rear paws had been found, and considerable mystery existed as to the mauler. Seymour Trafion and Jock Ogilvy caught the bear, whose skin measured over seven feet in length.

THE FORD CAR SIX-BRAKE SYSTEM

Grips with Silent Power

THE greatest safety feature on any automobile—the braking system—has been developed on the Ford car to a degree that insures absolute driving confidence. Being fully enclosed, the internal expanding brakes on all four wheels are free from any danger of impaired performance from mud, sand, road dirt, grease or other foreign matter entering the mechanism or between the bands and drum.

The four wheel system is operated by a foot pedal, while the emergency or parking system of two brakes, one on each rear wheel, is distinct and separate, operated by a hand lever. This added security is made possible through the unique design of the Ford steel spoke wheels to which drums are fitted to accommodate two sets of internal brakes on the rear wheels.

The smooth, even braking of the Ford car yields more advantages than maximum safety at all times, since it makes tires last longer and adds immeasurably to riding ease and driving comfort.

Three Young Women Plan Trip To Remote Places

Arrayed in trim khaki colored breeches and shirts, leather puttees and caps with badges on them, but also wearing lip rouge so they won't be mistaken for motor cycle cops, three young women have set out from New York in a light motor truck to "go places and see things" in remote corners of the earth.

They are heading for Alaska; the party consists of Baroness Christa Von Brandenstein; a movie actress, Miss Nada De Namur, and a girl reporter, Miss Margaret D'Angelo, Ottawa, Ont.

They're going to all the remote places they can find—partly, Miss De Namur confessed, in answer to a masculine challenge that women can't do that sort of thing" and partly on the theory, that, being more patient and painstaking than men, they'll find out a lot of "dope" that the male explorers passed up.

"We're going as far north in Alaska as we can in the car. Then we hope to get an aeroplane ride and after that dog teams until we get away up where no white women have been before.

"And after that we're going to the Gobi desert, the wilds of Australia, Iceland and, oh, lots of places. We expect to circle the globe and get back in about three years."

Proved His Heroism

George Horne, Toronto Hockey Player, Gave Life For Companions

The other day three Canadian young men found themselves in dire peril when the canoe in which they were travelling on a prospecting tour in Northern Ontario upset.

The men clung to the upturned canoe but when it was seen that the weight of the three of them was more than the boat would stand, one of them struck off to swim for the shore. He was George Alexander Horne, star forward of the Maple Leaf hockey team of Toronto, commonly known to hockey fans as "Shorty." The weather was bad, the lake was rough, and Horne went down before he could reach the land. His two companions state that Horne's action in taking a chance on reaching the shore by swimming undoubtedly saved their lives.

"Shorty" Horne, no doubt, was just an average young Canadian, claiming to be no better than the ordinary run of fellows with whom he associated. He did the things that the average young Canadian does; he played hockey, was active in sports, knew how to handle a canoe, liked the open-air life and the northern waters and hills. No one would pick him out as of heroic stuff, yet when Death, suddenly, in the lashing waters of a Northern lake, threw a challenge in his face, he took up the gauntlet without hesitation that others might have their lives.

Sir Philip Sydney, English knight, gives up the cup of water to the dying soldier; "Shorty" Horne, hockey player and prospector, lays down his life to save two friends.

The race retains its element of greatness.—Regina Daily Post.

The Improved
Glass Substitute

COMES WITH A MESSAGE OF HEALTH

THE sun is the all-powerful life producer, Nature's universal disinfectant and germ destroyer, as well as stimulant and tonic. WINDOLITE is the sun's most important ally.

Medical research has definitely proved that from the point of view of Health and Hygiene, the most effective among the sun's rays are the Ultra-Violet rays, which possess the greatest power for the prevention and cure of disease and debility.

Science has further established that ordinary window glass does not allow the passage of Ultra-Violet rays, so that by using glass we are artificially excluding these vital health-giving rays. Therefore, the invention of WINDOLITE has completely satisfied the long-felt want. Exhaustive experiments have conclusively proved that it is a most effective substitute for glass, that it freely admits the Ultra-Violet rays, and that its use has a most beneficial effect on the growth and development of plants and chickens and on the well-being of cattle, enabled for the first time to have healthy light instead of darkness in their sheds.

Indeed, the discovery of WINDOLITE has during the last six years completely revolutionized gardening, given a new stimulus to poultry breeding, increasing the egg-laying capacity and fertility of chickens, has greatly improved the health of cattle and is now being used in domestic and household requirements.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

Copyright, 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Marcus, the famous Broadway producer, visits Blackie Joe's New York night club, where he hears Al Stone, Blackie's singing waiter, render a love ballad of his own composition. Marcus offers to buy the song and Al consents on condition that the producer will hire Molly, his sweetheart, to sing the song in one of the Marcus revues. Marcus agrees. Molly treated Al disdainfully before that, because he was only a waiter, but now she makes up to him. Thus the night ends with two persons, Al and Molly, supremely happy. But there is sadness in the heart of Grace, the beautiful cigarette girl, for she is deeply in love with Al. She runs quickly home to hide her tears.

CHAPTER IX.

Time heals the sharpest wounds, say the philosophers. Perhaps, but the memory of the wounds may last a long, long time. Fortunate is the man or girl who has the strength to keep those memories from becoming bitter.

Grace Farrel, the cigarette girl at Blackie Joe's, was such a person. Al Stone and Molly Winton had left and become headliners on Broadway. As the weeks lengthened into months Grace heard reports of their achievements and saw their pictures in the papers. Al had become one of the outstanding song-writers of Tin-Pan Alley; his melodious scores featured all the Marcus revues. His ballads and comic numbers had made him famous throughout America. Molly, true to Al's prediction, had become a headliner in the Marcus musical shows.

Once Grace begged time off from Blackie to see the outstanding Marcus show of the season. She had hoped Al would appear, but he didn't. However, Molly was there as one of the featured performers, singing Al's words and melodies. Grace, leaning forward in her first row gallery seat, had to admit Molly put the songs over well. Molly was deft, graceful, self-possessed, and she knew how to get the most from a song's variations.

"Perhaps I was wrong in thinking she couldn't make Al happy," mused Grace. "She certainly knows her business and she is awfully pretty."

Yes, Molly was pretty. Yet Grace's intuition told her, even from this distance, that there was something cold and calculating about her successful blonde rival. Her smile and gaiety made Grace distrust her.

But Grace caught herself up on these critical thoughts—perhaps, she reasoned, they came from jealousy. She determined to stifle them. They weren't fair to Molly.

Occasionally Al revisited Blackie Joe's and received congratulations from his old friends, but Molly never deigned to set foot in the place where she had started her climb up the ladder of fame. "That's Molly—too high-hat," murmured Blackie Joe to Grace in explanation.

Grace never forgot Al's first visit to Blackie's after Broadway had claimed him for its own. She was very busy with her cigarette tray, her head lowered, when a familiar voice inquired:

"How much the lot, Gracie?"

Grace almost tipped the tray over in her astonishment and delight. There stood Al, resplendent in the latest cut of dinner coat, with the same happy, boyish smile, the same kindly eyes, the same white, even teeth.

Al leaned over, before Grace knew what he was about, and kissed her lightly on the cheek. It was merely a quick, friendly peck, with no hint of romantic feeling, but because she was unprepared, Grace blushed crimson. Al did not know that his careless gesture aroused afresh the profound love for him that had caused Grace sleepless nights and that she had managed to control only recently.

But in a moment she recovered herself completely, giving him a friendly smile to match his own. She was determined he should never know how he had, unwittingly, made her suffer.

"We're simply thrilled about your success, Al!" she exclaimed enthusiastically. "Blackie and I and the others here at the club talk of you often. You're a famous man, Al, and you'll be a rich man soon."

"Yes, I suppose so," Al replied, laughing. "It's awfully good or you think of me."

But Grace thought she detected the faintest shadow cross his mouth.

"What's the matter, Al?" she inquired anxiously. "Isn't everything as you wished?"

"Oh, yes, Grace, everything's K.O.," answered Al.

Then he shook hands with the performers and, after a short talk with Blackie, vanished to the glittering uptown section—to visit Marcus in his palatial skyscraper office overlooking Broadway. They talked over the next revue.

"Well, Al, is genius burning? What price the new songs?"

"They're coming along swell," answered Al quickly. "I've got a South Sea number almost finished and I'm starting on a kid song. I think I'll call it 'Little Feller.' Like that title?"

"Sounds good," said the producer. "Can you let me see both next week?"

"Surest thing," said Al, and nervously rose to leave. He wanted to reach Molly's dressing room at the Manhattan Roof Theatre soon, for the show was just ending. But he also wanted to ask one question.

"How's Molly getting along Marcus?"

"Great! She's a fine little artist and the crowds take to her."

Al fairly beamed. He didn't care so much about his own success, but whenever anyone praised Molly a happy glow stole over him. His wife was still his dream girl. But now Marcus said a strange thing.

"Everything's all right between you and Molly?"

"Oh, surely! Everything's perfect. Why do you ask?"

"Oh, nothing—but you know in show business, where partners in marriage are both headliners there's often dissension. You and Molly are unusual that way."

Marcus gave a mysterious little smile and Al moved toward the door. "Molly's the one who's unusual—she's perfect!" said Al, and disappeared through the door.

He wondered what Marcus meant by that mysterious smile, but dismissed it from his mind as he rode down in the elevator. Then he turned the corner, ran across the street, and entered another elevator to be whirled aloft to the Manhattan Roof. He found Molly in her dressing room, garbed for the street, chatting with John Perry.

John Perry was Al's best friend and a peculiar individual. The most peculiar thing about him was his mysterious source of income. He never seemed to work, yet he had plenty of money and spent it freely. Along the White Way they called him a racketeer and said he controlled the illicit distribution of contraband liquor in a district peppered with high class night clubs.

Just Made Him Laugh

Plucky Navigator Not Daunted By Nerve-Racking Experience

A young fellow sailed from Boston for France in a 116-foot open boat equipped with an outboard motor. His chief asset, says the Associated Press dispatch, appeared to be pluck.

Pluck, plus; we should say. What nerve such an undertaking requires! Yet there are plenty of men who have it. We recall in particular Capt. Howard Blackburn, of Gloucester, who once tried the Atlantic crossing alone in an 18-foot sail boat. Off the Grand Banks a storm came up. The exhausted navigator finally threw out a drag to keep the boat's head in the wind and crept into his cabin for a nap. A wave came aboard that threatened to sink the vessel, and that jammed the sliding door to the cabin so that for a time Blackburn couldn't shove it open to let himself out.

"How did you feel?" he was asked. "Well," he replied, "it seemed so ridiculous that I should die that way that I just laughed out loud."

"Sure, right away, I was detained talking to Marcus about the new show. I have arranged for you to have the pick of the songs. Where shall we go—to a club or home?"

"Let's go home, Al. I'm tired."

As they left the dressing room Al went first down the narrow corridor. He did not see Perry give Molly's hand a surreptitious squeeze as she followed.

SUMMER COMPLAINTS

KILL LITTLE ONES

"And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought."—Isaiah lviii. 11.

My Shepherd is the Lord my God, There is no want I know; His flocks He leads in verdant meads Where tranquil waters flow.

He doth restore my fainting soul With His divine care, And when I stray He points the way To paths of righteousness.

—Eugene Field.

Through every step in life the Shepherd offers to guide us, if we will but bear His voice and follow Him. He never promises smooth paths, but He does promise safe ones. If we follow Him we may find the steepest cliff "a path of pleasantness," and the lowest value of humiliation as a highway to peace.

—Theodore L. Cuyler.

New Association For Canada

A number of firms interested in aeronautics are forming an association under the title of "Canadian Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce." The decision was made following a meeting of 35 aircraft representatives in Montreal who were present in the city in connection with the aircraft show. By-laws of the new association have been drawn up, tentatively, and matters of organization planned and outlined. Incorporation is now being sought.

Use Natural Hot Water

Citizens Of Boise, Idaho, Supplied From Hot Wells

Heating problems have been solved for 200 home owners of Boise, Idaho, who have natural hot water piped into their faucets, it is stated by E. E. Smith, vice-president and general manager of the Boise Water Corporation, in an article in the July issue of the Professional Engineer, monthly organ of the American Association of Engineers. The water comes from the Hot Wells, several miles east of town.

An acre of quagmire was noticed to be warm and never covered by snow in winter. Several men decided to prospect for water and after digging 400 feet found a good flowing supply of hot water. They dug another well, and the two produce 800,000 gallons a day. The water's temperature is around 170 degrees.

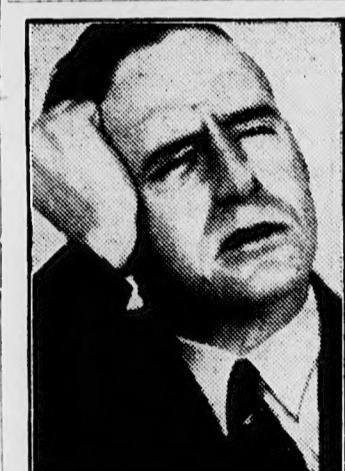

The Campers' First Aid

Minard's is good for burns, bruises, sprains, wounds, and insect bites.

Two years ago George Carmody, a railway engineer, met an elderly man in Indianapolis whose pockets had been picked. He begged for a ticket to his home town in the West, and got it. Now Carmody has been made sole heir by the befriended one's will to 360 acres of coal lands in Canada—with a railway ticket to the property also provided.
